“Our party is pro small business” says Monte Solberg, CPC Finance Critic

At the invitation of Parkdale-High Park CPC Candidate, Jurij Klufas, local business leaders met with Monte Solberg, MP and Finance Critic for the Conservative Party of Canada Monday evening. In his opening remarks, Mr. Solberg emphasized the need for “a strong Toronto in order to have a strong Canada”.

Mr. Solberg assured business owners that it is policy with his party to ensure entrepreneurship thrives in Canada. He agreed that there needed to be specific strategies and financial support for large cities to meet the increasing demands of infrastructure and immigration.

Mr. Solberg stressed that fiscal accountability needed to be part of Canada’s mandate and that “it has to start from the top – the federal government needs to demonstrate its accountability, and set the example for the nation”.

Mr. Solberg commented that though “Canada is a wealthy country, it can be much wealthier still – and good policies to increase the wealth of individuals is the way to be able to fund all the necessary social programs and investments.”

When asked if the Conservative Party of Canada was ready to govern, Mr. Solberg replied, “We bring a great deal of experience as MPs and now it is time to bring the experiences to govern Canada”.

The Conservative Party of Canada is committed to cutting the GST from 7% to 5% just one of many economic policy initiatives that will help drive small business – the backbone of employment in Canada, and in Parkdale High Park
